THE COUNTY CONVENTION

OLD TIME POLITICAL METHODS USED TO PERFECTION.

Common Fairness and Justice Wholly Disregarded From Start to Finish.

The Hunt County Democratic convention has been held and it was a dandy from start to finish. It was democratic in name and that was all. If the sovereign voters of Hunt county think they had anything to do with it they should be treated for water on the brain. Aside from a few platitudes if they think it was representative of the great Democratic party they have another thing coming. This writer is neither mad, disappointed or disgruntled, but as a faithful chronicler of passing events has concluded that he will tell a few unvarnished facts in his own way, about a local political event, something that is not usually done by a local newspaper, and it should be made rather interesting reading.

The convention throughout would have put to shame the stock methods of the old time court-house lunch when so often discredited and disgraced the Democratic party, and its work was the logical result where men are placed above principle. If there was one manifestation of fairness, justice or political decency in it from start to finish we failed to observe it.

We are reliably informed that prior to the meeting of the convention there was a caucus of the Polindexter people, with a sprinkling of Colquitt supporters, where a union of forces was agreed upon, lists of delegates prepared, resolutions outlined, and the full work of the convention mapped out, for which there was no deviation except possibly the handling of one delegate to the district convention who is a Johnson man, and this was possibly done by mistake.

The machinery was started by the naming of Parson Clifton as temporary chairman. Of late years Parson Clifton has become the stock property of the Bailey forces and he is thought forward with painful regularity wherever it is thought necessary to fortify a bad cause with a show of religious co-operation and sanction. The only trouble with Brother Clifton is that with increasing years he finds difficulty in reading the names prepared for him that are supposed to appoint on the various committees that have already had their work done for them. Mayo Neyland made the old-time and long since discredited motion that the "chair appoint" a certain number of men for certain committees, and the chair promptly read off the names previously prepared for him. These committees retired and performed their "duties", returned in due time and their work was promptly ratified on motion of Mr. Neyland, or some one in the game. The delegates responded like so many jumping-jacks dangled with a string. The whole thing was a spectacle for gods and men.

The committee on permanent organization reported the venerable, retiring, unsophisticated and unassuming judge V. W. Grubbs as permanent chairman and the judge modestly accepted reward for his work as chief literary director of the Polindexter campaign in Hunt county, and in addition to talking about education made a plea for peace and harmony at the very moment when cold steel was being placed between the ribs of the Johnson, Davidson, Randall and Colquitt alliance.

Some forty delegates to the state convention had been listed and if there is a Johnson or Davidson man on the delegation, he is not one to hurt. Mr. Mangum, who was under stand voted for Johnson, was added at some one's suggestion as a matter of courtesy to a newly elected member of the legislature. While Colquitt received near 1,400 votes in the county, his supporters appear much less in the minority. The combined votes of Johnson and Davidson are less than 150 short of the total vote of Polindexter yet there was not one of these 1845 Democrats who was sufficiently honest and patriotic to be entrusted with the great honor of being sent down to Galveston to hand in the election, returns from Hunt county, and cheer while the prohibitionists of North Texas and the ants of South Texas joined hands at the commands of a few well-grounded politicians and a scattering of liars.

DEATH OF A VETERAN.

Mr. J. D. Darby Passed Away on Friday—Funeral This Afternoon.
Friday at 2:25 p. m. J. D. Darby breathed his last at the residence of his son, J. G. Darby, three miles northeast of town. "Grandpa Darby" as he was familiarly called by every one, had been on a visit in Oklahoma and Monday he was taken slightly ill. Nothing serious was thought of his illness until Friday at noon he was taken violently ill and died. He was done that could help him but to no avail. The cause was congestion of the stomach. "Grandpa" was a soldier in the Civil war, and had lived in Hunt county for 30 years. His wife died 23 years ago, and he is survived by his children J. G. (Bud) and a daughter in San Saba, Texas, one brother, Tom, of Denison. All will attend the funeral which will be this evening at 8:30 at Liberty Graveyard. This death was a shock to the community where he lived and was unexpected. Mr. Darby was 75 years old.

RACE RIOT: BLOODSHED

TWENTY-ONE NEGROES DEAD. THREE WHITE MEN WOUNDED.

Rangers Hastened to Scene, and Marshall Militia Ordered to Go.

Houston, Tex., July 30.—A special dispatch from Palestine today reports a serious race riot at Slocum, Anderson county, a small town south of here late yesterday. The latest advices state twenty negroes were killed and three white men were badly wounded. The trouble arose over the question of a note a man named Alford endorsed for a negro, who, when asked why he had not paid it, cursed Alford, and said that no white man could "do" him.

The fighting between the races began immediately and continued throughout Friday night.

Twenty negroes are reported to have been killed up to the present time and three white men, one named Sam Spangis, are reported badly wounded.

The negroes, it is said, are organizing and there are two hundred of them armed at Benson Springs, near Slocum, who have expressed their intention of cleaning out the entire white population.

Sheriff Black with a posse of citizens heavily armed have gone to the scene.

Austin advices are that four rangers have been hastened to the scene of the race trouble, and a company of white militia is placed under orders for a prompt movement.

Late Palestine specials say it is known that twenty-one negroes are dead and a deputy sheriff of Houston county is killed.

Two hundred negroes are surrounded at Benson Springs and the whites are awaiting the arrival of reinforcements before opening fire or forcing them to surrender.

Militia Called Out.
Marshall, Texas, July 30.—Adjutant General Newton has ordered the militia company here to proceed to Palestine and Slocum by first train.
